[A. P. EARLY A.M. REPORT.] LONDON, Jan. 25, 9:45 a.m.—(By Atantic Cable.) The War Office has reeived a telegram stating that Gen. Warren has occupied Spionkop.

BRITISH LOSSES CONSIDERABLE. [A. P. EARLY A.M. REPORT.] LONDON, Jan. 25 .- The War Office has just issued the following dispatch of th tory if Spionkop should be taken by highly hazardous assault.

Whatever was the motive for premature disclosure which rendered the press censorship and the systematic suppression of news a hollow mockery, he tension of excitement through the day at London was very great. The War Office was besieged with in-quirers hour after hour, and the clubs were crowded at night with silent were crowded at night with silent loungers awaiting with grim stern faces for news of victory or disaster. The tactical points which had been bewildering military writers had been cleared up. That was one point gained. The British north camp is in confusion. People are observed treking all districtions."

Commenting on Capt. Mahan's attitude, its St. James Gazete today repaired. The British north camp is in confusions extended about eight milies from the western spurs of Spionkop to Brakfontein. Warren had not turned this position, unless Dundonald could be said to have done so by circling around the range to Acton Homes. Warren had fought his way from the river from one line of kopies to another toward the spurs where the enemy's right and center were interenched, but shrank from exposing the troops to the zene of fire on the bare open slopes.

The alternative was a desperate attempt to carry by night assault the main summit of Spionkop, where the main summit of Spionkop, where the loungers awaiting with grim stern faces for news of victory or disaster. this summit will not be commanded against a storming party. In some particulars there is a disposition already to censure Buller for attempting a turning movement of so bold a char acter with an inadequate force. Thes strictures are not borne out by the pri ate letters written by officers. After the battle of Colenso the opinion was apparently general in Buller's army that Ladysmith could not be relieve by a direct attack upon Colenso with-

The British success would cut the Dutch army into two sections, and each could be attacked in turn. Lansdowne, Wyndham, Wolseley and other high authorities had been in consultation during the evening, and there were suspicions that there was news, but not of the right color, This was a vague surmise, unsupported by any tangible evidence. There was a general feeling of indignation in the club over the anxiety caused by the prema-ture disciosure of the plan of night at-tack. It was considered an inexcusa-ble blunder on the part of Lansdowne, since Warren's plan of attack might have been deferred at the last moment for another night, and meanwhile Buller himself would have given warning to the enemy.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—The steamer
Lahn of the North-German Lloyd line, which left this port for Bremen, car-Lahn of the North-German Loyd line, which left this port for Bremen, carried away eleven trotting horses which James Butler of this city has just sold to Constantine and Franz Blekle of St. Petersburg, Russia, for the reported price of $35,000. The Russian horsemen arrived here last Saturday in search of promising young trotters for racing and breeding purposes. They were here only three days, most of which time was spent at Butler's East View farm in Westchester county, where they found what they wanted.

In point of breeding it would be hard to find a lot of higher class trotters than the ones the Russian-horsemen carried off to the land of the Czar. The collection included one stallion and ten mares. Ludwig, the stallion, is a half brother to Mr. Butler's noted horse Directum Kelly (2:08%,) winner of the $10,000 Merchants' and Manufacturers' stakes at Detroit, in 1898, Directum Kelly was the largest winner in the grand circuit of that year, and was unbeaten during, the campaign. Ludwig is a two-year-old.

Miss Fanny, one of the mares bought by the Russians, is a bay four-year-old, by Direct (2:05%,) out of Fanny. Another hish-bred filly, in the collection is Miss Ronner, a four-year-old by Director (2:17.) out of Mambrino Maid (2:15¼). This filly was bred by A. H. Moore of Philadelphia, who paid about $50,000 for her sire and dam. Still another royally-bred ones is an unnamed two-year-old chestnut filly by Delmarch (2:11½) out of the old-time trotting mare Sulsan (2:18½). of the old-time trotting mare Susawis.

Justice Morgan heid the unfortunate negro to answer in that sum yesterday evening, after a preliminary examination lasting a day and a half.

Throughout the proceedings yesterday, the courtroom was crowded almost to the ponit of suffocation, black faces predominating. It seemed as it the entire membership of the Manhat-tan and United Republican clubs had congregated to learn the fate of their dusky brother.

When the examination was resumed in the morning, Mrs. May Emerson, the complaining witness, who had recovered her composure over night, was recalled for further cross-examination. She winced a great deal under the scarching questions of counsel for the defense, but stuck to her original story of the alleged assault.

Charles Newton, a mulatto who occupied the room adjoining Mrs. Emerson's in the Commercial-street lodginghouse where the alleged crime was committed, was called to testify that he overheard the old woman's entreaties to be let alone, but Newton disappointed the prosecution by testifying that he did not hear a sound, although he was awake at the time, and could have heard any unusual noise.

Maude Brooks, alias Cooper, a colored wench of unsavory reputation, went completely back on the prosecution by testifying that she saw Avery in Mrs. Emerson's room about 2 o'clock Sunday night, which corresponded with the story told later by the defendant

When the people rested, Le Compte Davis, Esq., made a motion to dismiss the complaint on the ground of insuffi-cient evidence to convict. The attor-ney made a forceful argument in sup-port of his motion, but the court over-ruled it.

At the afternoon session Mrs. Emerson was recalled for cross-examination, and was asked some pointed questions regarding her past life. These were raled out as not proper cross-examination. The woman was then placed on the stand for direct examination as a witness for the defense, and the objectionable questions were then renewed, but only allowed in part. The defense entered an exception and then excused the witness.

but only allowed in part. The excused the witness.

Not being allowed to condemn the character of the complaining witness by testimony from her own mouth, the defense proceeded to show her moral remiseness by the testimony of other witnesses. The first of these was Edward E. Akers, a colored bootblack, whose wife formerly kept a lodginghouse and accommodated Mrs. Emery son and daughter with rooms. She was ejected from the house, Akers alleged, when it was discovered that she was not respectable. "White men, black and Chinamen, toog! were in the habit of visiting her and drinking beer in her room, according to this witness.

Police Officers Fowler, Hubbard, Phillips, J. M. Baker and Matuszkiewiz then, in turn, were sworn and practically all of them testified that Mrs. Emerson was known to them as a prositivity who did not draw the color line.

"What business is the complaining witness engaged in there?" was asked.

"The same as all the rest of us, when she gets a chance to turn a trick. She helps to do the chamber work sometimes, but'I often do that myself. We all help when the landlady is away."

The witness then detailed an alleged conversation that took place between herself and Mrs. Emerson Monday afternoon. She said Mrs. Emerson herself and Mrs. Emerson requested her to send for the defendant's wife, as she wished to settle the rape charge with her. Belle sent her "man," Gene Harris, to see Mrs. Avery and the latter returned with him. Mrs. Emerson then said to Mrs. Avery give me $150 and your diamond earrings, and I'll go out to Big Mary's place at Station C and keep out of the way for a few weeks till this thing blows over."

"My God, I'm no millionaire! I believe my husband is innocent and I'm not give you anything. Is that all you want of me?" replied Mrs. Avery indignantly, and left the house.

"After she was gone," continued Belle, "Mrs. Emerson said 'Belle, you go and see her and tell her I'll squash it for $100. I heed money very bad. You may keep the diamonds if you can get them.' I said: 'I can't afford to do that. That would be bribery and I ain't going to put myself in the way of going to the pen. I've got diamonds of my own and can make all the money I want in a better way.' I told Mrs. Fay that evening: 'This woman is no good. She's wrong and wants to get those people's money and diamonds.'" concluded the notorious Belle.

Mrs. Avery then went on the witness stand and corroborated what Belle Williams said in regard to Mrs. Emerson's offer to "squash" the charge against her husband for $150 and her diamonds. "I never offered her a dollar to withdraw the charge," said the

"I never offered her a dollar to withdraw the charge," said the witness impressively, "but I did say that I would give all I have totsave my husband, and I would, too, but not in that way. I believe he is innocent." Mrs. Avery denied that her husband ever carried a revolver or a knife. The only weapon he had was a toy pistol used on the stage. He had no silver money on Sunday night. The wife's testimony made a good impression. Reub Brown. porter at the Manhattan Club and son of the manager, told about his adventures with Avery after 12 o'clock Sunday night, and put up a story very much in the defendant's favor.

Dennis Johnson, a deputy constable and janitor at the Public Library, testified that he saw Avery going to his rooms about 6:15 o'clock Menday morning, which was about the time the alleged assault was committed. The defendant then gave an account of his movements between 12 and 6 o'clock Monday morning. After the theater, he went to the Manhattan Club to see his friend Reub Brown. He drank a few glasses of beer and some cider, but did not become intoxicated. Reub accompanied him to the United Republican Club, and thence they went to Mrs. Fay's house on Commercial street to see Riley Moore, a colored man who rooms there. Riley was not in, but Mrs. Emerson met them in the hall and asked them if they wanted a room. They did not, while they were talking, he accidentally jingled his money, two gold colling. Then she began talking to Avery, and invited him into her room while Brown went downstairs looking for Riley Moore. Mrs. Emerson admired his $250 diamond pin, and proposed that he stay all night with her, but he refused. While they were talking single proposed that he stay all night with her, but he refused. While they were talking sone. Avery made his escape, and he and Moore then went to a white sporting house, where Avery spent the rest of the night. It

Mr. McPherson of lowa, another member of the committee, also advocated the adoption of the majority report. He said the minority could not sneer down the objection to Roberts's admission on the ground that Utah had voted her compact with the United States, and quoted a decision of the late Chief Justice Chase to the effect that a State could violate her compact to such an extent that Congress could deny her representation. Mr. McPherson declared that once scated, Mr. Roberts could never be expelled. He devoted much of his time to answering the argument of Mr. Littlefield. At times he was exceedingly caustic.

Mr. Crumpacker of Indiana was unable to agree with the resylutions of either branch of the committee. He wanted the majority report amended, so as to require a two-thirds' vote to adopt them.

wanted the majority report aniended, so as to require a two-thirds' vote to adopt them.

Mr. Wilson of Idaho challenged some of the statements made against the Mormon people. He said he represented 30,000 Mormons, and that in all that made good citizenship they were the equal of any constituency in the country. He affirmed that the Mormon church abandoned polygamy as a doctrine in 1890 in good faith, and he believed they had lived up to their promises. Upon his responsibility as a member, he stated that polygamy was not being entered into in Idaho, and the church had recently issued a proclamation against it, which he had read. He was opposed to polygamy as much as any member, and he repudiated the statement that the church was teaching, advocating or advising its practice.

The President seemed to regard the suggestions of the committee with favor.

CONGRESSIONAL PEVIEW ANTI-SLAVERY AND POLYGAMY.

[A. P. NIGHT REPORT.] WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Routine business occupied the attention of the Senate today in a brief session. The resolution offered yesterday by Mr. Pettigrew of South Dakota calling resolution offered yesterday by Mr. Pettigrew of South Dakota calling upon the President for information regarding the treaty entered into with the Suitan of Suiu, was passed after Mr. Pettigrew had made an attack upon the administration for entering into an agreement which, he said, authorized slavery. An extended debate was precipitated by a conference report on the Census Administrative Bill, but the Census Committee gained its point, and the measure was sent back to conference.

The second day's debate in the House upon the Roberts case was less dramatic than that of yesterday. The galleries were almost as crowded, but the ladies were less demonstrative. The President's pastor, Rev. Dr. Bristol, was in the executive gallery the greater portion of the afternoon, listening to the arguments. Mr. Roberts was not present during the day. Had he been, he would have heard the most scathing excorlation of the Mormons ever delivered upon the floor of the House.

Mr. Landis of Indiana, the young orator who distinguished himself during the last Congress, during an oratorical duel with Mr. Johnson of his State, won new laurels today. He charged that Utah had been admitted to the Union as a result of a Mormon conspiracy, and reviewed the history of the apostles of the church, whom he charged with living in open and flagrant violation of the statute against polygamy, to show that they had basely broken their solemn pledge to the government. The other speakers today were Messrs. Powers (Rep.) of Vermont, and Meirs (Dem.) of Indiana, for the majority resolution; Messrs. Snodgrass (Dem.) of Tennessee, and mont, and Meirs (Dem.) of Indiana, for the majority resolution, Messrs, Snodgrass (Dem.) of Tennessee, and Wilson (Sil. Rep.) of Idaho, for the minority resolutions; Mr. Lacey-(Rep.) of Idaho, for his proposition to expel without swearing in, and Mr. Crumpacker (Rep.) of Indiana, for exclusion by a two-thirds majority. The speeches today greatly strengthened the majority resolutions, which seemed in dariger of failing after Mr. Littlefield's speech yesterday, and Chairman Tayler was confident tonight that they would be adopted when the House votes tomorrow afternoon.

REPORTS ON THE HOLLAND.

THE COMPANY'S PROPOSITIONS. [A. F. DAY REPORT.] WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Secretary Long today received from the Board of Naval Construction two reports on the Holland submarine boat. The Holland Company had offered to sell the Holland to the government for $165,000; to embody certain improvements in her and sell her for $175,000 or finally to and sent her for $15,000 or handy to build two new and larger boats for $170,000 each. Four members of the board united in a majority report favoring the refection of the propositions based on the fact that the company is now a delinquent in the case of the submarine boat Plunger, on account of which the government has already paid $99,716, with no likelihood of her company makes satisfactory settlement for the Flunger, then the board will be willing to build one of the larger boats, but not to purchase the Holland.

The Chief Constructor submits a minority report declaring the majority did not give sufficient credit and encouragement to the enterprise of the company. He declares that the results obtained with the Holland were satisfactory, and in view of the cost of the submarine boats, the government should accept the Holland and order two larger boats. build two new and larger boats for

In the case of Hawaii, he proposes to eliminate the provision for the Hawaiian Commission, and insert a clause for the continuance of the existing customs relations between the United States and Hawaii until further legislation by Congress.

The customs provision suggested in the case of Puerto Rico requires the collection on Puerto Rican articles imported into the United States of "a sum equivalent to 80 per cent. of the customs duties levied upon like articles imported into the United States from foreign countries."

Articles originating to the United States and shipped to Puerto Rico are to pay their 80 per cent. of the duty-imposed upon importations from other countries.

Macrum is not Consul to Pretoria, or in fact in the United States consular aprice in any capacity, yet it appears that he himself is under a different impression. The fact that the United States Senate confirmed a successor to Mr. Macrum as Consul to Pretoria is regarded by the State Department as sufficient evidence that he was thereby ousted not only from his post at Pretoria, but entirely out of the service of the United States government.

Through a statute intended to prevent consular officers from being left in the lurch at a distant post, an allowance is made to pay traveling expenses back to the United States, which is technically regarded as consular pay in order to fall within the law, but any claim to a place in the consular service based on this allowance would, it is said at the department, be purely technical.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—A dispatch to the Tribune from Paris says that Mr. Macrum continues to take particular pains to dispel the mystery which the Paris papers attach to his journey. Dr. Leyds, President Kruger's dipiomatic representative in Europe, who has arrived in Paris from Brusses, said he was not aware of any extraordinary mission which had been intrusted to Mr. Macrum. He said that he had met the ex-Consul at Pretoria, but had not seen him in Paris.

The Paris papers publish this morning the statement, cabled from Washington, that Mr. Macrum, being no longer in the consular service, has received no instructions from the government regulating his attitude toward newspaper correspondents.

When pressed by inquiries he said: "I am still in the United States consular service; I certainly have received no instination to the contrary." When urged to give more explicit information as to the nature of his instructions and to say from whom they emanated, Mr. Macrum finally admitted that he had received no such instructions from Washington.

He said that all-funds received at the United States consulate at Pretoria up to the time of his departure, which had been sent from London to British prisoners had been distributed to them. When he was asked why, assuming that his mission to Washington was of such urgency, he did not take passage on the North German Lloyd liner. Saale, which will leave Squthampton Wednesday evening, instead of waiting until Saturday to sail on the St. Paul from Cherbourg, Mr. Macrum replied that, coming from the hot African climate he wished to get warm winter clothes for himself and his family before going to New York.

He wears a miniature South African Republic flag in his buttonhole, and still maintains a Sphinx-like silence in regard to the reasons for his repeated requests to be relieved of his duties at Pretoria. It is obvious that if Mr. Macrum really has any extraordinary message for President McKinley, such a message for President McKinley, such a message for President McKinley, such the World from Belfast says that the mystery surrounding Maj.-Gen. Sir Frederick Carrington's release from his command in this district, accompanied by an unofficial statement that he was going to South Africa, is now solved. Heretofore, for reasons best known to themselves, the War Office officials have refused to assign Gen. Carrington to any command in South Africa, despite his long experience with British troops in that country. Now it is known that Cecil Rhodes and the Chartered Company have received permission to, saise, equip and put in the field a force of irregulars, and the War Office has loaned Gen. Carrington to the South African millionaires to command this force. No one can tell what the strength of this force will be, or where it will operate. Neither will the friends of Gen. The morning papers went to press with conjectures and forecasts of all sorts, striving to guess out some-thing from Spionkop.

Topography maps show that Spion-kop is the highest part of a rocky plateau. Eastward for eight miles are the Boer positions along the Tugeta. Northwestward from Spionkop the plateau runs gradually up to a great spur of the Drakensburg. Gen. JOHN MORLEY ARRAIGNS THE GOVERNMENT.

SAYS IT STUMBLED INTO WAR IN THE DARK.

So-called Dutch Conspiracy Only an Afterthought Conjured Up to Hide a Hideous and Ghastly Blunder. Dangers for England in Other Quarters not Impossible.

LONDON, Jan. 24.- [By Atlantic Cable.] John Morley, addressing his con stituents at Forfar, made but little reference to the present aspects of the war in South Africa, confining himself chiefly to a renewal of his indictment of the "policy which led to hostilities." He ridiculed "the notion that a few Boer successes entitled the Transval to be described a first-class military power," and declared that "the fact of the Boers sending the ultimatum no more disposed of all other stituents at Forfar, made but little tun no more disposed of all other questions than the defiance of the American colonists in throwing the tea into Boston Harbor disposed of all the questions of the war of American independence."

"It is quite certain," continued Mr. Morley, "that had the government appreciated the temper of the Transvaal people and foreseen what was coming—what we all know in these black, gloomy days—there would have been no war. It is dreadful, but true, that a want of foresight and decent information led the government to stumble into war in the dark.

"Lord Salisbury's menacing speech of July 28, if applied to a great power, could only have meant war. It was absurd, if the government really believed in a Dutch conspiracy, to spend time in negotiations regarding the franchise. The conspiracy was an afterthought of the government, conjured up to hide a hideous and ghastly blunder."

In conclusion, Mr. Morley declined to up to hide a hideous and gnastly blunder."

In conclusion, Mr. Morley declined to commit himself as to what would happen in the future, but he warned his hearers not to be duped by the idea that the Boers, after defeat, would neatle down quietly. With reference to the point at which the conflict would come to an end. Mr. Morley observed: "Something depends on a chance which, I hope, is remote, but is certainly not invisible, of our being called off to meet dangers in other quarters."

She had prepared the baby for bed, and as she sat on the edge of the berth, the baby at her knees, she taught the baby its evening prayer, "Now I lay me down to sleep."

"The child lisped the prayer as only a baby can. As the words, I pray the Lord my soul to take, were uttered, who should be standing with folded arms in a very reverent attitude in the aisle beside the bowed form—none other than Col. Ingersoll.

"God bless mamma, God bless papa, God bless everybody." The mother spoke, and the baby lisped.

"At the final 'Amen,' Col. Ingersoll clasped the baby, in his arms and kissed the child on the forchead reverently, saying, 'God bless everybody.' By this time all of the car occupants were onlookers. The great Ingersoll held the wee little baby, cooing in his arms, and he was talking to it. GO IN EFFECT TODAY.
[A. P. EARLY A.M. REPORT.] CHICAGO, Jan. 24.-The Chronicle says that rates on enarly two hundred articles will be advanced by the roads west of Chicago by a classification that will go into effect in that territory Thursday. The increase in charges will average about 10 per cent., though in many cases the advance is more and will affect every article received by railroads for shipment. The rates have not been advanced directly, but the reresult is the same. Instead of dealing with the rates the articles affected have been placed in higher classification.

Merchants and shippers throughout the affected territory which is bounded by a line drawn through Chicago and St. Louis on the East, the Pacific Coast, on the west, the Canadian line on the north and the Gulf of Mexico on the south, are protesting vigorously against the advance.

"As a man eateth, so is he," is a philosopher's statement of a truth which mothers and nurses need often to rehearse to themselves. Whether the child is to be well or ill, strong or weak, sluggish or active, self-controlled or the unhappy victim of a mortical mount of food and regularity of feeding. These matters are not to be decided by the advice of fond grandmothers or the traditions of nurses, but by the scientific knowledge of the mother trained to understand the physical needs of an infant. One of the most helpful of recent books, Louise E. Hogan's "Study of a Child," gives

XVI.-THE CARE AND EDUCATION OF CHILDREN. BY LUCY WHEELOCK.

The Care of Infancy. We have been slow to learn the lesson of the Great Teacher, who set a child in the midst of His disciples as an object of reverence and study. Man has taken all knowledge as his prov-ince and left as that hist to be con-quered a knowledge of the human be-ing destined to make the world that is ing destined to make the world that is to be.

Classical learning has absorbed the attention of scholars to the exclusion of the study which really concerns the welfare of the human race. Spencer lamented in his time the inadequacy of the school curriculum, which made elaborate preparation for everything but the highest of all functions, that of parenthood. He pietures the amazement of some antiquary of the future who should unearth text books, and school papers, and finding no reference is training for such duties should conclude them to be relics of a race of celibates. "Tis. true, 'tis pity," and ulasi it is still true. An examination of the curricula of most of our colleges and seminarles would reveal the same inadequacy to meet the real needs of life. The higher education of women does not ordinarily include any reference to the possibility of motherhood. But there are signs of promise. A few courses of study are offered here and there based on an enlightened conception of the high calling of women, as "the first priestess of the human race." Mcthers' clubs and classes for motners in our kindergarten training schools are springing up all over the land, in evidence of an awakening public sentiment as regards the responsibility of the care of childhood.

The overwhelming attendance and the great enthusiasm shown at the first mothers' congress held three years ago in Washington was a surprise, even to its promoters. It was convincing testimony of a growing sense of need on the part of many women. Another promising sign of the times is the wealth of child-study literature. In the second edition of Tracy's "Psychology of Childhood," published in 1894, he refers to no less than 105 published sources of information. The list would now be largely increased. Since Preyer's notable record of his observations of an individual child there have been many studies of this sort, the larger portion of which concern themselves with the period of infancy. The interest in child study largely promoted by Dr. Hall and his assoc o be. Classical learning has absorbed the

In the plays of children Froebey discovers "the heart leaves of the future,"
The child is most truly himself when he plays. All his energies are employed; frequently his special powers and tendencies are expressed in this free manifestation of self. An English writer on this subject characterizes neglect in fostering such special tastes and capacities as a ruthless waste of national capital. It is possible that child study in the kindergarten may prevent some of this waste, especially when mothers and kindergartens have the frequent opportunities for conference afforded by the mothers' meetings.

the frequent opportunities for conference afforded by the mothers' meetings.

Long before Froebel's time Plato. Quintilian and other educational writers had insisted upon the value of the plays of children as "a preparation for the serious business of life," but it was reserved for "the apostle of childhood" to fathom "the deep meaning which oft lies hid in childish play" and to make it the dorner-stone of his educational foundation.

The musical setting of the kindergarten plays makes them "orderly and law-abiding," and through the medium of song we believe with Plato that rhythm and grace enter into the recesses of the soul and abide there. The corganized play, when rightly conducted, preserves the true balance between lawful liberty and license, and in nowise interferes with the spontaneity of childhood. Freedom and law are inseparable terms, and one of the important lessons of the kindergarten game is that the good of the individual is conditioned by the good of the whole. The only one who isn't happy is the one who won't play. Consideration of others and subordination of self are common, plain virtues to be adquired only by "daily act and fe of a hormal enild. The points most esisted upon in the management of he young child were regularity in maters pertaining to physical care and on-interference with the developing hind, that there might be free play f the individuality and self-activity. sideration of others and subordination of self are common, plain virtues to be adquired only by "dally act and habitude." The kindergarten play circle is the school for these social virtues because all must play together in order to play at all.

mind, that there might be free play of the individuality and self-activity.

The care taken to insure right habits of body and mind on the part of all who came into any relations with the child might well serve as a model in other homes. In his "Christian Nurture," which has become a classic, Dr. Bushneil lays emphasis on the fact that individual feeding in babyhood and highly-seasoned and rich foods are the prolific sources of perverted appetite and gross excess. Intemperance is excess or lack of moderation, and its seeds are sown whenever and wherever the seffess of the young child are allowed to become masters rather than servants. Froebel has devoted two of his songs in the "Mutter und Kose-Lieder" to a consideration of the senses of taste and smell, showing the importance of cultivation of these "ministers of the mind" through the medium of the baby plays. He advises that the child's attention be diverted during easing by a moving bird in a cage which can be fed, or by the suggestion of sharing the food with some other pet. This prevents the food and its enjoyment from becoming an end in itself. other homes. CLOTHING.

"Our first gifts to our children are fetters," writes Rousseau, in condemning the customary method of clothing infants. The traditional long clothes and bands must impede the freedom of movement necessary to develop muscular strength. The emancipated mother discards all elaborate long skirts and dresses and makes the baby comfortable in Arnold slips. Like the Froebel mother, she watches the free play of the limbs and rejoices in the growing strength of her baby, as she sings:

"In and out! In and out!"

Toss the little limbs about, IMITATION.

No agency of the kindergarten has been so much questioned and so often perverted as the gifts. Froebel did not play of the limbs and rejoices in the growing strength of her baby, as sheen so much questioned and so often perverted as the gifts. Froebel did not the mand out! In and out! Toss the little baby feet; That's the way to grow, my sweet."

Environment is another emphatic word in the mother's vocabulary. What the baby is first to see, what he is first to hear—these are matters of prime importance. Through the senses the child's soul lies open. Keep the importance in the child's soul lies open. Keep the importance in the child's soul lies open. Keep the importance in the child's soul lies open. Keep the importance in the child is nowhere more wine-selection of children's playthings, which is first to hear—these are matters of prime importance. And let the picture be hung for the solution of the s

The simple and manageable material lends itself readily to the desires of the mind. The value over other material lies in the fact of organization and progression, so that the child grows by what he does and finds at every stage what is suited to his needs.

But it is apparent to the wayfaring man, though he be almost as big a fool as Bryan, that if these people are not intelligent enough to be governed under the mild and liberal rule of the greatest republic on earth, they are scarcely capable of setting up and aintaining an independent government. Successful self-government requires a much higher order of intelligence, of elf-control, and of all the essential qualifications of disciplined citizenship, n the part of the governed, than the mere submission to governmental laws and regulations established and maintained by an alien power. A novel is one thing, and a play founded on it is quite another; and, for dramatic purposes, may, very properly, be independent of its structure so long as the integrity of the characters and the vital incidents of the story are maintained. Mr. Caine, it is said, exercised the liberty of the dramatist with his own story only to an extent absolutely necessary, and while in some features the play differs from the book, such difference does not detract from the value of the story. detract from the value of the story. This evening and during the re-nainder of the week the Grau Opera Company will present Richard Stall's famous comic opera, "Said Pasha." This opera has not been heard in this city for a long time, and will doubtless draw large houses during its short presentation. It is promised that "Said Pasha" will be presented in a most complete and costly style, and that neither pains nor expense has been spared to make this the best production ever given in this city at the Burbank prices. The scenery and costumes are said to be all new, and to have been pecially gotten up for this production.

The "Kernel" Presented a List of the Towns-Motion for Dismissal of Bribery Charges Against Col.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 24.-[Exclu-Dispatch.] At this time, when the tle for the United States Senatorbattle for the United States Senator-ship is about to be renewed at Sacra-mento, it is of interest to know where the fifty-five stalwarts who stood out against the blandishments of Burns and his henchmen at the last session will be found this time, and why. There are many claims by Burns and his managers that they have captured fourteen of these men who stood so lovally for seventy-two days by the Ally for sevent, sople of the State and by the stituents. This claim is thought to be dittuents. This claim is thought to be dittuents. This claim is thought to be merely one of the colonel's celebrated bluffs, or the vaporings of some of his hangers-on. The constituents of these fifty dive men still believe in them, and it will take something more than and it will take something more than the boast of Burns to cause them to admit that even one of this band of stalwarts has been corrupted by him and induced to betray the people of California.

In spite of efforts to keep secret the negotiations which immediately prepared the calling of the extra session, coming to the surfage, soming to the surfage, surf loyally for seventy-two days by the people of the State and by their constituents. This claim is thought to be merely one of the colonel's celebrated to reflect any credit upon Gov. Gage, or to improve his standing in the sight of the people who elected him to his high office. The mandate of the Southern Pacific Company that an extra session in the interest of the Southern Pacific Company that an extra session in the interest of the Southern Pacific Company that an extra session in the interest of the Southern Southe sion in the interest of Burns should be called forthwith was transmitted t Gage in room 962 of the Palace Hotel, Sunday afternoon. This room was oc-cupied by J. B. Wright, the railroad dent for the Sacramento division. Ly agreement, Gov. Gage. D. M. Burns, W. F. Herrin, head of the Southern Pacific law department, and Wright, held a long session there on that date.

For hours possible contingencies were discussed. Burns, naturally, was the central object of the talk. He explained the strength he hoped for, and plained the strength he hoped for, and figured out in detail the men whom he owned, yet the sum total did not reach the desired point. The scheming during the months since the regular session closed was retold, and the hope of added support through patronage given and yet to be doled out was relied upon to furnish votes for him in sufficient quantity to give him at least a forlorn last chance. Finally, Gov. Gage agreed to once more put the State to great exto once more put the State to great ex-pense to give the Southern Pacific canpense to give the Southern Pacific candidate an opportunity to try to put into execution the schemes which he has been hatching.

The gross probability of another deadlock was a thorn in the side of each of those at the conference. It was agreed that a Senator must be was agreed that a Senator must be elected, and that if Burns could not elected, and that if Burns could within a reasonable time secure necessary votes, Van R. Paterson would be the dark horse to whom a bolt should be made. Burns, Herrin, and Gage united on this point. It was akreed that the first order of business in the call should be the election of a United States Senator. Soon after the secret conference Gov. Gage left for Sacramento, and in less than twenty-four hours the call for the extra session was issued. In the hotel lobbies tonight, the extra session and the accompanying Sen-atorial contest were generally dis-cussed. The impression was prevalent hat Col. Burns, who, with his staff of brick distributors, had passed out so many of the gilded souvenirs at the regular session, had in turn been pre-sented with one of the yellow cubes in the shape of an extra session. It was reely predicted that the extra n so far as Dan Burns's candidacy concerned, will be but a repetition of the regular session last winter. There will be the same boasting and same bluffing, with no material change in the result to the colonel. The claim made by Burns that he will be elected on the fourth ballot is identical with his boasts of a year ago, when he was unable to secure his election with 120 words were so pointed as to indicate that he recalled it.

Bryan paved the way hastily for his speech by remarking that he had so little time, scarcely an hour, in which to say all that he wished to present that he would plunge at once into a discussion of the "three great leading questions of the day, namely, trusts, money and imperialism." Which of them is paramount depends upon the point of view of the individual, and he said: "Personally, I don't care to specify."

WHERE POPULISTS MEET.

(A. P. NIGHT REPORT.)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Senator
Butler of North Carolina, the chairman of the People's Party Committee, will tomorrow issue a call for a meeting of the National Committee of that party at Lincoln, Neb. The date has not yet been definitely settled, but will be about the 15th or 20th of next month. The committee will decide on will be about the 15th or 20th of next month. The committee will decide on the time and place for the next Populist National Copvention. Senator Butler declares that there is no significance in the selection of Lincoln. "I asked the members of the National Committee," said he, "where they would like to meet, and I feel bound, therefore, to abide by their decision. There was no majority vote for any one place, but the plurality was in favor of Lincoln. I think this is due to the fact that the Populist State Committee sent out word that it would be glad to entertain the committee there."

The action of the Populists, it is learned, is without the knowledge of the contract of the populists.

Bryan arrived here from New York at 10:55 o'clock a.m., and addressed an audience of over a thousand people at the Town Hall.

"I believe," said Bryan, "that the tendency of the Republican party is to exait wealth and to debase common humanity." The dollar is plainly stamped upon the Republican policy, and there is no policy of the Republicans today that does not bear that stamp."

licans today that does not bear that stamp."

He went on to say that the Republican party is not applying today 'the principle enunciated in the Declaration of Independence.

"That principle applied to taxation would mean that every man would bear his just share of the burden of taxation, but now an unjust proportion of that burden is placed upon the poor.

"The Republican party is trying to fasten upon the country a system of laws made by financiers for their own benefit. When the doctrine of favoritism is once started it cannot be stayed. To fasten upon the country the gold standard means that it will be affected by every change in Europe."

standard means that it will be affected by every change in Europe."

Bryan explained his plan for the regulation of trusts under a law of the general government. He asserted that the Republican party had no desire to kill the trusts, which were the hens that laid the golden eggs for that party. He questioned the right of the government to rule the Philippines by force, and said the title it obtained to the islands was a title to the land, not the people.

At the conclusion of his speech, Bryan boarded the train for New Haven.

SMALL DAMAGE SUIT DISMISSED.

The damage suit instituted on Tuestaby by Barnett Foley, a twenty-year-old plumber of this city, who received injuries in his back and on one of his cheeks in the Southern Pacific wreck at Fornon on Christmas eve, has been dismissed. The matter was up in Judge Webb's court yesterday morning, and a stipulation was filed in the case, whereby the young man agreed to accept $200 in full liquidation of all claims he might have against the company. He had sued for $500, and believes that he will bear a facial disfigurement for life. He was a passenger to Fornona, and within 300 yards of his destination.

France. Then came the Louisiana purchase.

As every one knows, this project was originated by Thomas Jefferson. It has been asserted that Jefferson was opposed to the acquisition of foreign territory by the United States and only consented to this purchase because of the vital necessity that the United States should control the navigation of the Mississippi, but it does not seem certain that there is any warrant for the Mississippi, but it does not seem certain that there is any warrant for the statement. In a letter to Breck-inridge concerning the proposed purchase, Jefferson, after stating that "the Constitution has made no provision for our holding foreign territory, still less for incorporating foreign nations into our Union," says: "The Legislature, in casting behind them metaphysical subtleties, must ratify it and throw themselves on their country for doing for them unauthorized what we know they would have done for themselves." ritory, or even to the incorporation of foreign nations in the American Union, this letter gives no proof.

By the use in this connection of the curious term "metaphysical subtleties." Mr. Jefferson presumably intended to characterize as trivial the objection that the Constitution made no provision for such accessions. As we know, the omission in the Constitution of any express warrant for incorporating foreign territory into the Union was ignored. Who shall say that it would not have been ignored had occasion effered to incorporate a "foreign nation?"

The colonizing spirit was not long suppressed by the acquisition of Louisiana. The Floridas were soon after acquired, which action John Quincy Adams called "a great epoch in our history," and immediately after this came the remarkable colonizing expedition of Long, who, with his seventy-five followers, made a Jameson raid into Texas. As an empire builder, Long broke all records, for only five days after leaving the little town of Natchez, in his "Supreme Council," he declared the Independence of Texas. This was quick work, indeed, and leaves Cecil Rhodes a very poor second. That independence was not reality intended by these pioneers is evident from the fact that in his proclamation Long asserted that "The citizens of Texas." (the aforesaid seventy-five) "had always hoped that when the boundary line between the 'Spanish possessions and the United States was fixed they would be added to the latter." This was, however, not then to be. These American Ultianders had to wait a quarter of a century to realize their desire.

Sumpter Fields-Mining Notes

Three reports on the gold and silver-production of California for 1839 have already been made, one by the Superthe statistician of the mint, who estimates e gold production at $14,952,382, one the statistician of the mint, who week it at $15,000,000, and the third Wells, Fargo & Co., at $15,391,398. As by Wells, Pargo & Co., at $15,391,395. As the latter base their report upon the amount of gold dust and bullion they carried it would be fair to assume that their report of gold production is nearer the mark than either of the others. In addition to the amount accounted for by Wells, Fargo & Co., they also report shipments out of the State of these and base bullion in which there for by Wells, Fargo & Co., they also report shipments out of the State of ores and base bullion in which there was more or less gold, and which had a value of $3,246,315. Leaving out this latter, it is seen that Wells, Fargo & Co. account for nearly half a million more gold than does the Superistendent of the Mint. But, besides this, it is well them that a very large amount of gold dust and builion passes through private hands from the mines where produced, of which Wells, Fargo & Co. would have no account. It is believed that if all the figures could be obtained the gold production of California for 1899 would be fully a million dollars more than Wells, Fargo & Co. have a record of, which would make the total gold production for the year about $16.40,000. SOME ARIZONA MINES.

SOME ARIZONA MINES.

Maj. B. E. Lower of Los Asgeles sends to The Times some notes of a trip he recently made to some of the mining camps in Yuma and Manicopa counties, Arizona. He states that there is much activity and productive mining being done in the camps along the line of the Southern Paclific Railway and in the camps adjacent thereto. In the Copper Mountain district, sixteen miles southeast of Tacna Station, there are about forty mines and prospects, many of which are being operated, some of which are shipping a good grade of copper and gold-bearing ore, and which would be shipped to Los Angeles were there a smelter here. Speaking of mines south of Adonde Wells in sout, which were there as melter here. Speaking of mines south of that point, is down about seventy-five feet on a good vein, of free-milling ore. Some Los Angeles parties recently made some gold locations south of Adonde Wells in the Gila River range on which there are large outcrops of free-milling ore. The Roy copper mine, near Casa Grande, is being operated with 100 men, and a smelter is now being erected on the property."

KING OF ARIZONA. KING OF ARIZONA.

The King of Arizona mine, near Mohawk, Yuma county, Arizona, is now treating an average of ninety tons of ore daily, while at the same time going on with development work. Due thousand feet of tunnel has been done on the vein The deepest shaft is 450 feet. The general character of the ore is free millibg, and the average value of it $18 per ton, not counting the rich apolts. Rolled crushers are used, with a cyanide plant of 100-ton capacity. The water is pumped five miles, and the quantity of it is sufficient to treat 100 tons of ore daily. There are about one hundred men employed at the mine.

THE PANAMINT DISTRICT. Judge R. Decker of Ballarat, Cal., in a report on the anamint district, in the southern portion of Inyo county, published in the Los Angeles Mining Review, says that all that section of country is now the scene of much mining activity. The principal mines are in Jail, Tuba and Pleasant canons and Miseral Hill. On the western sine. in Jail, Tuba and Pleasant cafions and at Mineral Hill, on the western slope of the mountain range, and at Anvil Springs and Gold Hill, on the eastern slope. At Tuba a Bryan mill, capable of handling 5 tons daily has been erected. At Jail a three-stamp mill is in operation; at Pleasant Cafion the Rateliff Consolidated Gold Mining Company (Ltd.) have twenty stamps in operation. The ore is carried from the latter mining company's property by an improved tramway, at slight cost for transportation. In respect to water and fuel supplies, he says: "Abundance of pure water is obtainable in all the sections where the mines are situated for milling and other purposes. In fact, the whole mountain range is well supplied with water, which only needs piping from its fountain head to the tendent of the nill and chemist at the works, which proved so satisfactory that W. R. Woolard, general manager of the Barstow Feduction Works, Scott A. McKeown, W. C. Woodard and others, have interested themselves in the process, reorganized the company, taken stock in it and capitalized it at $10,000,000 in shares of $1 each, with W. C. Woodard as president of the new company. The lixiviation plant lately erected at the Barstow mill, at which the Stephens process will be used, is to be increased to a capacity of 1000 tons a day.

SMELTER AT THE NEEDLES.

SMELTER AT THE NEEDLES.

It seems to be pretty definitely settled that a smelter will be erected at the Needles, San Bernardino county, Cal. The chief mover in the matter s Dan Murphy of the Needles, and matters have so far progressed, that a contract is going to be made with Fraser & Chalmers of Chicago for two sixty-ton stacks, capable of handling all classes of ores. A suitable location for the smelter has been procured, the deed for which is now deposited with Monachan & Murphy at the Needles, and which would be turned over when construction work on the smelter is well under way.

RAND DISTRICT.

RAND DISTRICT. iring the year 1899 forty-five cyanide plants were also erected, one at the Johannesburg mill, the other at the Black Hawk mine. The two there a combined capacity of forty tons, a day.

THE SUMPTER (OR.) FIELDS.

The Portland Oregonian has an account of the Sumpter gold fields in Eastern Oregon, showing their importance. They are about thirty miles wide by 100 miles long. The ore is generally free milling, although, as the Oregonian states, the development in some claims has opened up a number of ore bodies which were found to be partly base. Cyanide plants are being finstalled on these latter. A large amount of eastern capital is being invested in these Sumpter fields.

PURCHASE OF THE SILVERIGOA Announcement is made of the pur-chase by P. J. Donahue of Salt Lake

the Silverigoa mine in Sinaloa, Mex., said to have been one of the largest producers of silver in the world. The mine has been worked for so many years, and has produced so much silver (estimated at $200,000,000,) that its present value is considered problematical, but the new-owners, both mining men, are reported to have expressed themselves highly satisfied with their purchase. City and H. C. Bacon of Montana of DALY-WEST MINE. The Salt Lake Review states that quite a stir was caused last week in quite a stir was caused last week in mining circles over a report received at Salt Lake City from New York to the effect that J. E. Bamberger, for himself and associates, had purchased the Haggin-Hearst holdings in the Daly-West mine at Park City, amounting to 47,000 shares, the purchase price being placed at $500,000.

SAN MATEO BEACH MINES.

SAN MATEO BEACH MINES.

The San Francisco Chronicle states that along the ocean shore of San Mateo county, Cal., beach mining for gold is again attracting attention. One miner who has a plant near Lobitus is said to have made considerable money working the beach sands during the past year. Near Spanishtown another miner has located a claim and intends working it through the current winter. Beach mining for gold has been carried on for many years, on the California coast. A great deal of money has been taken out of the gold-bearing beach sands at Gold-Bluff, where the separation of the fine gold from the dross with which it is associated has been accomplished by the use of special concentrators. From time to time experiments in beach mining have been made on the ocean shore near San Francisco. There, as elsewhere, the beach is auriferous, but the gold is so fine that much Mining Notes.

MINING NOTES.

The Yellow Aster Company of Randsburg, Cal., has declared a $20,000 dividend for December, making $80,000 for the last four months of 1899, and $333,-789 to date.

The Desert Chemical Company, recently organized, is going to erect a lixiviation plant at Copper City, San Bernardino county to treat the ores of that camp. Machinery for the plant has been purchased, and its capacity will be 300 tons a day. Contracts for the treatment of 200 tons of ore a day have already been made.

The Baker City (Or.) Republican says rich discoveries of gold-bearing quartz have been made in Harney county? the new camp being located on Trout Creek, about twenty miles north of Burns. It is named Ideal City, and is at the head of Gold Gulch.

Cyanide practice is extending in Montana, and is not confined to treatment of tailings. Its availability for treatment of ores directly from the mine, in many cases, is well established. One of the most extensive plants of this latter class is in operation at Gilt Edge. 125 miles east of Great Falls, Mont., and is owned in New York.

During 1899 the Portland mine was the heaviest single gold producer in Colorado, having shipped yielding returns of $2,500,000. Stratton's Independence was next, with $2,000,000.

The gold yield for 1899 in New South Wales was 599,418 ounces, an increase of 185,925 ounces over 1898.

It is claimed that the best grades of Missouri and Kansas zinc blend contain 55 to 60 per cent. zinc.

In 1898 California produced 541 long tons of manganese, the average value of which was $5.96 per ton.

It is estimated by the Baker City Chamber of Commerce that the total output of the Eastern Oregon gold belt during the year 1899 amounted to $4,875,000. Most of the ore milled in the quartz mines of this section of Oregon runs from $10 to $15 per ton, the smaller figure predominating.

STREAM OF BURNING OIL NEAR WESTLAKE PARK. Residents of the Westlake Park dispany (Ltd.) have twenty stamps in operation. The ore is carried from the latter mining company's property by an improved tramway, at slight cost for transportation. In respect to water and duel supplies, he says: 'Abbindance of pure water is obtainable in all the sections where the mines are slight sections where the mines are slightly stated for milling and other purposes. In act, these whole mountain range is well supplied with water, which only needs piping from its fountain head to the mines. In some cases there are sufficient quantities for power, notably in Burprise and Hunopa cañons. Upon the mountain sides there are thousands of acres of plnyon timber growing, which will furnish fuel and timbers for a long time to come.

THE STEPHENS PROCESS.

The Stephens Process Company has been reorganized, and recapitalized, some tests of the process were lately made at the Burstow mill, under the supervision of H. B. Meade, superintendent of the nilli and chemist at the works, which proved so satisfactory that W. R. Woolard, general manager of the Barstow Reduction Works, Scott A. McKeown, W. C. Woodard as dothers, have interested themselves in the process, reorganized the company, taken stock in it and capitalized it at 10,000,000 in shares of $1 each, with W. C. forth, either upon monuments erected by the government or the States, or the tablets prepared by the government, it will be seen that every soldier in the contending armies has a personal interest in correcting possible errors, to the 9nd that only truth may be perpetuated in granite and bronze.

"For these reasons the commission desires to secure the attendance of the various parties in interest, namely, the Congress, which will be asked to appoint a committee of examination; the Governors of all States which had soldiers engaged in the battles, through such officials as they may select; the State monument commissions which have cooperated with the National Commission in the establishment of the park; the veterans of the regimental and battery organizations engaged on either side, and the general and staff officers of the various armies engaged. There is, however, no although the side, and the general and staff officers of the various armies engaged. There is, however, no although the symptomic of the classes named can be relied upon to render certain the detection of any errors of moment in the monumental inscriptions, or locations, or the general historical tablets, and in the designations of the lines of battle. While the ranks of the veterans of these fields have sorrowfully diminished, enough remain to inspect and intelligently correct all errors, and thus assist, before it becomes impossible to secure such general and united effort, in insuring historical accuracy in the restoration of the notable fields of Chickamauga. Wauhatchie, Browns Ferry, Ozchard, Knöb, Lookout Mountain, Missionary Ridge and Ringgold Gap, all of which are embraced in the park project, and upon each of which the lines of battle have been established and monuments and markers erected.

The following circular, dated at Washington, January 18, has been sent out by Gen. H. V. Boynton, chairman of the Chickamauga and Chattanooga National Military Commission. to which the attention of soldiers who vere engaged on those fields during the war between the States is invited. The circular is dated, War Department, Chickamauga and Chattanooga National Military Park Commission, Washington, January 18, 1900."

"The Chickamauga and Chattanooga National Park Commission, in order to secure the greatest possible accuracy in its work, embracing historical text on tablets and monuments, landmarks the sides those occupied by the regimental monuments, and 178 battery tablets, making, with 50 to be erected during the coming season, over 2000 tablets for examination, besides several hundred battle positions of brigade lines.

"While no group of visitors can make a full inspection of the great number of tablets, monuments and other historical markers, it is hoped that each brigade and division will have enough representatives present to insure the correction of any errors.

"As the substantial memorials erected on these fields will endure for centuries, all veterans, and the States which-sent them forth, are interested in handing down a correct history of the deeds of valor which were three performed. As the history of every regiment and battery is briefly set forth, either upon monuments erected by the government or the States, or the tablets prepared by the government, it is hoped that each brigade and division will have enough the regentatives present to insure the regression will have enough the arch three performs of any errors in which they may be directly interested in the substantial memorials erected by the government or the States, or the tablets prepared by the government, it will be seen that every solder the regimental and battery associations of that army which has thus far the regimental and battery associations of that army which has thus far the regimental and battery associations of that army which has thus far the regimental and battery associations of that army which has thus far the regimental and battery associations of that army which has thus far the regimental and battery associations of that army which has thus far the regimental and battery associations of that army which has thus far the regimental and battery associations of that army which has thus far the regimental and battery associations of that army which has thus far the regimental and battery associations of that army which has thus far the regimental and battery associations of the mark the regimental and battery associations of

OF MEXICAN TROOPS. Indians Followed to the Mountains by Three Columns and Badly

Whipped in a Big Fight-Heavy Losses Estimated-Rescue of Padre seltran and Four Sisters of Charity.

The following account of recent operations by Mexican troops against the rations by Mexican troops against the raqui Indians in Sonora is taken from La Constitucion, the official journal of the State of Sonora:

"Being unable to resist the government troops along the banks of the receiver, the Indians fled for refuge to the Bacatete Mountains, where they found strong bulwark against their purpuers. After satisfying himself that the rebels really had left the vicinity of the river, the general-in-chief of the one. Gen. Luis E. Torres, organized ag expedition to pursue and subdue them. This expedition was composed of three columns of Federal forces and he National Guard, commanded respectively by Cols. Agustin Garcia fernandez, chief of the Twelfth Batalion. Angel Garcia Peña, chief of the Eleventh Battalion, and Jesus Ganlara, chief of the Fourth Battalion. These columns left from different points in accordance with a preconceived plan and, after assuring themselves that none of the enemy was left in their rear, they consolidated and began the task of finding the enemy parth of the mountains. The Indians were discovered two different times and were forced to flee, abandoning the ortifications they occupied upon the ortifications they occupied upon the creat of the mountains. The rebels must have suffered great loss in killed and wounded, as the ground was saked in places with blood. As it is their cestom to carry off their dead, it was impossible to determine the numer killed. The government forces lost captain of the National Guard, and of the war is in sight. The num-of Indians killed and captured cer-nly must have depleted the enemy's ces to such an extent that they will compelled to surrender. The small ces of rebels now in the mountains do little damage."

Coast either Tuesday night or last night. He is due here about the end of him week. When asked as to the purpose of Mr. Morton's visit, and if it had any connection with the dispute between the road and the orange shippers, he being in special charge of all matters relating to traffic, the Santa Fé officials in this city stated that it is not known here what purpose specially the visit is for. They did not think it was for the purpose of holding a conference with the shippers; and, furthermore, they did not seem to think there would be any conference with any one on this subject.

The visit of President E. P. Ripley to the Coast is altogether an unknown quantity at this ehd of the line.

J. M. Barr, the third vice-president of the company, whose special charge is the operating department, is expected to leave Chicago in a few days for a wist to Celifornia. He very naturally makes periodical visits in order to see in what condition the property is and what new work is to be done.

BEARDED WOMEN.

Designing men, through alluring and cumingly worded advertisements, constantly endeavor to work upon the feelings of sick and alling women by inviting them "towrite to a worsan (!) and secure a woman's sympathy." It is well to remember that the best sympathy is to be had at home and not from strangers, perhaps hundreds of miles distant. The object of the sick is to get well, and however precious sympathy may be, it never yet cured a seriously afflicted woman. While the sympathy of your milliner or dressmaker might be appreciated and be justias beneficial, if not more so, than sympathy from a stranger, yet it can not effect your cure if you are an ailing woman. It is loudly proclaimed through the press that "a woman can best understand a woman sailments," and on this ground sick women are invited to "write to a woman 's advice. The sort of "understanding of her ailments wanted by a sick woman is a trained medical understanding. If a woman has the trained medical knowledge she understand woman's aliments mor as a woman, but as physician. If she is not a doctor she cannot understand the ailments at all, and cannot treat them successfully, because she lacks the pecessry training.

As far as known, there is no regularly qualified woman physician connected with any proprietary medicine especially designed for women—no one, therefore qualified by learning and experience, to advise on questious of disease and its cure.

It incertain that there is no one, man or woman, connected with any "put up" medicine for women, excepting only Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, who, like Dr. Pierce, is a regularly graduated doctor, has been chief consulting physician of the lavalids' Hotel and Sungical Institute, of Buffalo. N. Y. On his staff are nearly a score of regularly graduated, experienced, skilled physicians, each of whom is a special study and treatment of diseases of women. The weather still continues fine. Bidding was more spirited, and everything offered was cleaned up. Heavier supplies are expected next week. If the weather continues favorable, there will probably be little change in the market, but a cold spell or heavy snowstorm, causing stocks to accumulate, with heavy supplies arriving, would cause a serious break in prices. KEROSENE FIRM. About ten days ago the Standard Oil Company ordered an advance of 3 cents per gallon in an advance of 3 cents per gallon in kerosene oil. This action was taken at the East, and the rule did not at once become general. It has the effect, however, of considerably exciting the trade, so the advance is said to be based on the scarcity of crude oil, and if this is true higher prices must be-come permanent, at least until new oil territory of wide extent is discov-ered.

merce in this country at and prior to 1894 (and, indeed, "at all times,) these irried currants have never been known or classed as raisins or as dried grapes, which are different and well-known articles of commerce. Now, it is manifest that Congress fully understood this situation, and legislated upon the understanding that these so-called currants would not become dutiable as a part of the family of raisins or dried grapes unless they were specifically referred to, and therefore Congress used the phrase "raisins and other dried grapes, including zante currants," if the contention of the government were sound the words including zante currants would be entirely superfluous. But we must assume that Congress was satisfied to the contrary, and certainly the testimony now before the court shows quite clearly that the Congressional understanding as to trade classification and nomenclature was orrect. "It appears, moreover that Congress."

A YOUNG BURGLAR.

OFFICERS VAINLY SEARCH FOR ALLEGED ACCOMPLICE.

Harry Croft, 14 years old, who says his parents live at Garvanza, is locked up in the City Jail on two felony charges. For several days past the young fellow has been living at a rooming-house on East second street. For three days he acted as errand boy in a drug store, but was too swift and lost his position. The proprietor says he is the most unmitigated romancer he ever saw.

On Tuesday afternoon the residence of Mrs. J. W. Melsted, No. 520 Crocker street, was entered during her absence sand 38 stolen out of a purse. Officer McKensie secured the description of a boy who had been seen in the neighborhood, and at 9 o'clock Tuesday pictly he arresied wonne Croft on the same seen will stay with Mrs. Dougla her the complete of the passengers of the the conclusion that he had no accompilee.

When young Croft was searched on Tuesday night a pair of opera glasses, a silk handkerchlef, an ornamental hat pin and a vest-pocket revolver, 22 callber, were found on his person. Yesterday afternoon Mrs. E. L. Cook, No. 413
Towne avenue, called at the Police Station to report the theft of a few articles, her house having been entered on Tuesday afternoon about the same time that Mrs. Melsted's residence was burglarized. Upon being shown the opera glasses, handkerchief and hat pin she identified them as her pruperty.

Young Croft was then taxed, with the burglary of Mrs. Cook's house, but he denied it. He said that his accompilee, the mythical man, had done the latter job and turned the proceeds over to him. The detectives place no credence in the boy's story, and he will be charged with both burglaries.

geles, met with a serious accident geies, met with a serious accident about noon yesterday while driving in a cart from Burbank to this city.

Mr. Shelton, who is 73, years old, was driving a very spirited horse. At Temple and Figueroa streefs, the animal became frightened. It began to kick and got its legs over the shaft, overturning the vehicle and throwing the driver to the ground.

The patrol wagon was summoned and Mr. Shelton removed to the Receiving Hospital, where Police Surgeon Hagan attended him. An examination disclosed that his injuries, on account of his advanced age, are of a serious character. The left side of his chest was crushed and two ribs broken, his face was bruised and scratched and he had sustained a compound fracture of the left forearm—near the elbow. After attending to the injured man, Dr. Hagan had him removed to the home of his son-in-law, No. 1124 Manitou avenue. East Los Angeles Mrs. Shelton, who has been ill for several weeks, is lying; in a critical condition at her home in Burbank.

Mr. and Mrs. Shelton left their old home at Galesburg, ill., about five years ago and came to Los Angeles in order to be near their daughter, and finally located at Burbank. Mr. Shelton owns considerable property both in Galesburg and Los Angeles. Since coming to this city he has made nine round trips to his old home. Until Mrs. Shelton's recent illness the old folks, spent about half of their time in this city with their daughter and son-in-law,

Last night Mr. Shelton was resting comparatively easy. He suffered some pain in his chest, but the physician in attendance expressed the opinion that no internal injury had been sustained and was hopeful that the patient would recover in a few weeks. a cart from Burbank to this city.

Vesentini's Orphans. Humane Officer Craig is trying to find Humane Officer Craig is trying to find a home for the seven-year-old son of John Vesentini, one of the laborers killed in the Third-street tunnel disaster. Vesentini left four orphaned children, the mother having died two years ago. The oldest son, a bright boy of 14, works in a grocery and gets $2 a week and board. The next two children are being cared for by people at Anaheim. The youngest lived with the father and eldest brother in a hut at No. 714 Castelar street. Now that the father is dead, the oldest boy is unable to care for the child alone, and the Humane Officer is looking after the prphans. Mr. Craig proposed a home for the little boy at Artesia, but the big brother objected to his leaving the city, as he wishes to be where he can see him frequently.

F. H. OLMSTED. TMERAL Contract Specifically Gives Contractors Control of Temporary Structure

TUNNEL ACCIDENT.

STATEMENT OF CITY ENGINEER

and Holds Them Responsible-Blame Rests Upon the Vicious Contract System of Doing Public Work.

Since the accident in the Third-stree tunnel, much loose and thoughtless criticism of city officials has been uttered, and attempts have been made to lered, and attempts have been made to place the responsibility here and there without reference to the facts of the case. In order to clear away the misunderstandings, caused by irresponsible chatter. The Times asked City Engineer Frank H. Olmsted for an authoritative statement concerning the causes of the accident. Mr. Olmsted compiled with the request, and Olmsted complied with the request, and his statement is as follows; "The accounts of the Third-street tun nel accident and its causes having ap-peared in the different papers in a somewhat conflicting shape, I am glad to define my relations to that work so that any one who will follow this state-ment will understand.

"A municipality, in doing public work can either throw the responsibility for ccident and personal damages on the accident and personal damages on the contractor, or it can absolutely insist upon its own methods of work and thereby, of necessity, assume that re-sponsibility. It cannot be possible that the city of Los Angeles will insist as it the city of Los Angeles will insist as it does in clause 10 of Third-street tunnel specifications that 'all damages or in-jury resulting to persons or property through carelessness, neglect, or want of due precaution by the contractor must be borne by him, and under no circumstances shall compensation for such losses be allowed to said consuch losses be allowed to said contractor,' and then that in some other clause the City Engineer he able to force the contractor to do the work, so far as the temporary supports are concerned, in the City Engineer's way. That would immediately throw the responsibility upon the city! Under the circumstances it would be just as foolish to dictate to the contractor the kind or system of temporary supports he should use, as it would for the owner of a building in process of construction to dictate to the builder the kind of scarfolding he should use for raising his materials.

dictate to the builder the kind of scarfolding he should use for raising his materials.

"Now, in this case, for the last month there has been no complaint of any kind with reference to Maj. Lambie's work. In the discussions between Maj. Lambie and Mr. Quinton, my principal assistant in charge of tungels, and between Maj. Lambie and myself in the tunnel, there has never of late been mentioned any possible mishap but at the most a small vertical cave to be provided against by upright bents in the tunnel. But Maj. Lambie on Friday morning, January 19, when we inspected the work together, felt as well satisfied with the conditions and progress of work as he had at any other time, and the bents and the lagging behind them at that, time were sufficient to sustain their load. Sunday morning when the accident happened, at least two, or three hundred tons of earth, or perhaps twice that amount, slid westerly and slightly south at an angle from the horizon of perhaps 60 deg., pushing over the upright bents and allowing the earth to fall into the drifts on each side. A system of timbering to provide against such a contingency as this would cost nearly as much as the tunnel lining.

"The people at such a time as this tingency as this would cost nearly as much as the tunnel lining.

"The people at such a time as this are hunting for one to shoulder the responsibility. The responsibility rests upon the vicious system of public work. That's the culprit, but I will be willing to share this criticism now if thereby the people of Los Angeles can be made to see how wrong is the distrust of public officials and how vicious the system of contract work. The engineer's estimate on the Third-street tunnel was $105,000. The work was contracted for $88,449, and no clause inserted giving the engineer any authorracted for #35,449, and no clause in-serted giving the engineer any author-ity over the temporary work. The specifications are very precise about concrete and brick work; centering io-supporting the brickwork, etc., but no-one word about the means to be taken one word about the means to be taken to prevent caves in the tunnel before the lining was in, which is the matter now in question.

"I consider myself and my assistants placed in no very enviable position. We are obliged to go into the tunnels and take the risks that the city has kindly placed on the contractor. I have taken every precaution to protect the city's interests in selecting the best men to be found. They came without political influence of any kind, and were selected by me solely on account of their experience in tunnels. Not alone skilled in tunnel engineering, but all men of unblemished private rharacter and none of less than thirty years' experience in their profession. They were John T. Quinton, H. P. Vinpent and Maj. W. T. Lamble.

"After centuries of contract work, London has inaugurated a new system, and in August last had $400,000 worth bf public work under way by day's abor. May not this sad fatality be the means of opening our eyes to the evils of this contract/system here in Los Angeles."

Truss Thrown Away.

LOS ANGELES, Cal. Dec. 12, '99.

I have been a sufferer from a severe case of Rupture for a number of years, but had tried nothing to relieve me, as I was sure there was no cure for rupture. At last it became so SEVERE that I was OBLIGED to seek some help, and in an almost helpless condition I called on Frof. Joseph Fandrey, European Specialist in Rupture Curring, 642 South Main Surelists in Rupture, but promised me protection, relief and comfort before leaving his office. I immediately put myself in his care, and was relieved at once and went back to my hard work the next day after beginning treatment, and up to date have not lost one day's work on accounts' of my rupture. After following the professor's instruction for a few months I was entirely cured, and up to the present time have had no use for a truss of any kind, and have had no incoverniences whatever for over a year. I give this as a voluntary testimonial of my CURE, and will gladly answer any inquiries of fellow-sufferers.
